

Georgia Vote for Governor by County

November 6, 2018

This gridded cartogram provides cells of similar population size. Areas with low population density are reduced while those with high density are larger. This provides a more accurate representation of vote distribution.

